Club Matters

Over the next few months in the newsletter, the ESMBA will be publishing a series of articles relating to clubs and how they are governed.

Article 1: The Rules of a Club

The rules of the club is called its Constitution and it is a critical document for all clubs. The Constitution determines how the officers and other management committee members of the club are appointed, and what powers they have. If the rules aren't followed then potentially the committee members aren't appointed lawfully, and so their actions may not be lawful either. This could result in the committee members being personally liable for the actions of the club.

The rules should also explain how members join the club, how they can be expelled, how often general meetings are called amongst other matters.

Your Bowls club Affiliates to a National Association – the ESMBA. One of the benefits of membership of the ESMBA is the ability to adopt a common set of rules, which have probably been professionally drafted. The importance of a comprehensive and appropriate set of rules is highlighted when there is a dispute within the club between one or more of the members, particularly if the dispute involves an officer. This is, unfortunately, not uncommon. It is worth thinking about this when considering your own rules – if say the treasurer was suspected of financial impropriety, how would you investigate it, would you have the power to suspend them while you do, and if you needed to remove them how would the club operate while this process was going on? On the ESMBA website under club matters is a template Example of a Constitution. The English Short Mat Bowls Association \(ESMBA\) - Templates. It is worth taking the time as the new season starts to review your current constitution against this template.

How to become an Umpire booklet

Ever thought about becoming an umpire? Want to know what's involved? Then this booklet is for you.

Electrowind Rollers

The range of "Electrowind machines" came to life in early 2005 as a result of many Clubs starting to struggle with the manual winding up of their carpets.

The carpets still had to be wound up and stored away so the only alternative to manual machines was electric. A lot of thought went in to the design with four main factors in mind. 1). The ease of use so that everyone can wind the carpets up and down and not just the same one or two 2). Care of the carpets 3). The space in which the machines would be used and of course 4). Safety.

The machines have now been in circulation for over 18 years with over 290 Clubs right across the UK owning an "Electrowind" with many of the early machines still in good working order.

There are many stories of the plight that a lot of Clubs find themselves in at the moment but the one that stands out the most and we hear a lot is that one Club said

"We have a lot of members in their late 70's and beyond who can still Bowl very well but that will all end if we cannot pick the carpets up and down".

Club Health Checker

Our bespoke Club Health Checker is the Bowls Development Alliances free, online assessment tool and is available for all ESMBA affiliated clubs. By completing the Club Health Checker, it will reinforce what your club is doing well but also will help identify challenges you may be facing, while highlighting areas for targeted development and growth. By completing the 30-minute questionnaire, clubs are provided with a bespoke report that offers resources and guidance on how to improve across a number of key development areas. BDA Club and Community Development Officers are also able to offer further support should your club require advice and guidance on the results. Clubs are encouraged to complete the Club Health Checker every 12 months to understand where they have improved and developed and which areas they can give focus moving forward. You can access the Club Health Checker at:

Ask the Umpire

Please can you ask the Umpire Director to clarify ESMBA rule F10 : Playing with a Player Missing. The order is defined as Lead, Lead, 2nd, Lead, Lead, 2nd, which seems straight forward. However, when team A is a person short and loses the previous end, is the order of play for the next end: LeadB, LeadA, 2ndB, LeadA, LeadB, 2ndB OR LeadB, LeadA, 2ndB, LeadB, LeadA, 2ndB?

Umpire Directors answer:

I have designed a format card that explains the playing order when playing with a player missing. This can be cutout and laminated for ease of reference.

FORMAT FOR PLAYING WITH ONE PLAYER
MISSING.E.S.M.B.A. RULING. "Absentee Players".
A triples or Fours game will commence with the missing player being considered as the "Second" and a definite order of play will be maintained. It shall be: LEAD, LEAD, SECOND, LEAD, LEAD, SECOND. "A" is the team with a player short.
